

Washington, D. C., is a granddaughter of John Augustine Washington, by his second wife, Elizabeth Ann George. Betty Hayden Shuck died at San Francisco, April, 1934. Rose L. Chenoweth, sister of Sarah Blanche Washington Shuck, died at Leon, Kansas, March 16, 1937. Lilly Washington Wilson, the other sister of Blanche Washington, died in Washington, D. C., May, 1936, and is buried at Petersburg, Virginia. Her daughter, Blanche McKinzie, lives at Brook Terrace, Chevy Chase, Maryland.

Shuck.—Henrietta Hall Shuck was not the first white woman missionary to China, as erroneously stated on page 252, William and Mary Quarterly, April, 1938, but was the first American woman missionary to China.* She did not publish a book, but many of her letters are included in her Memoirs by Dr. J. B. Jeter, published in 1846.—Garnett Ryland, University of Richmond, Richmond, Virginia.
